

Three men in suits are standing in a laboratory, looking at a large cylindrical component of a particle accelerator. The component is made of copper and has a red end cap. The men are smiling and looking at the component. The background shows various pieces of equipment, a clock on the wall, and a blue door.

1

IR4B